

VILLA BRANDY

FRIENDS

PATMOS

Bedrooms: 4

Bathrooms: 4

Guests: 8

One of the oldest houses in Patmos, Villa Brandy is a traditional edifice built in 1522, recently refurbished, offering its guests the abundant luxuries of an all-inclusive retreat, while, at the same time, creating a secluded haven placed right in the heart and soul of the vibrant Chora of Patmos. Just 100 meters away from the landmark of the island, The Monastery of St John the Theologian, this is the first ever house that the Monastery issued a permit for, allowing a family from Rhodes island the original owners, to build it.

The high and thick walls around the property that were designed to protect it from pirates ravishing the Aegean back in the day offer today a calm sense of privacy. At the same time, the terrace and its spectacular views of the mountains and sea are furnished into a lovely sitting area, giving the house a strong connection to its surroundings.

The four bedrooms of the edifice allow for up to eight guests to enjoy their Patmian holidays in comfort. The master bedroom features a double bed and sports an en suite bathroom with a bath and WC. The second bedroom also boasts one double bed and an en suite bathroom. It contains a practical shower and WC. The third bedroom contains two single beds. The last bedroom hosts one double bed. The last two additional bedrooms share a bathroom which features a shower.

A cozy lounge creates the perfect environment to relax in the company of a good book or enjoy the flat screen TV fully equipped with satellite channels, DVD player, a radio and Wi-Fi. The kitchen has all the appliances necessary to cook up anything ranging from an intimate dinner to a large feast. A dinner table for eight or even the table on the patio can host from a small lunch to a full-on dinner party. Air conditioning and an indoor fireplace keep the houseguests comfortable year-round. A washing machine, ironing center and a safe are provided for your convenience.
